

THE DAVIES BULLY

ANNOYING THE HELL OUT OF THE FELLOWSHIP SINCE 2008

January 28, 2008

<http://www.massey.utoronto.ca/alumni/bully>

Alleged Master sighting unconfirmed, Don claims

JCR—Rumours that Davies Master D. Ramsay was spotted standing still for an unspecified amount of time this Friday evening were today debunked by Don of Hall Rahim Khan.

“Every year, you get this sort of wild story going around,” says Khan. “It’s the Davies version of an urban legend. I’ve heard it dozens of times, and trust me: it never pans out.”

The alleged sighting occurred after dinner on Friday. Non-resident Junior Fellow Jackie Keef says that she was standing in the Davies foyer, discussing the Murder Game with resident Brendan Lamont, when she felt the strong wind that always accompanies the Master’s passing. Accustomed to this phenomenon, she thought nothing of it until she realised that there was now a third person standing with her and Lamont.

“I looked to my left,” says Keef,

“and there he was, listening and even contributing to our conversation. He stayed there for a good two or three minutes. I was afraid to move, lest I startle him and he should flee like some timid beast of the wild.”

Lamont confirms Keef’s story, claiming that the mysterious interloper was “kind of short” and “had at least some hair.” Though he does not remember any of the alleged Master’s specific comments, Lamont does recall their visitor calling him and Keef “colleagues.” “Who else around here uses that word?” asks Lamont. “It has to have been him. And he certainly left in a hurry when the conversation turned to residence fees.”

However, Khan dismisses the encounter as a hoax or a mistake. “I’m sorry,” he says, “but the simple fact of the matter is that the Master is never going to remain still for that long. Face it: no one has seen or ever will see him. He is invisible and ineffable, like joy.”

Other Fellows, while remaining unconvinced by Keef and Lamont’s claims, have expressed guarded optimism that the Master may be seen by someone some day. “He’ll eventually become old and decrepit,” says non-resident Frankie Drake, “and we may catch a glimpse of him as he tools by with his walker.” Baldwin Wing adds, “If not, we could always just trip him up and sit on his head.”

Keef stands by her allegation and has announced that she would like to have another conversation with the Master soon. “It was thrilling,” she says. “I may set up a blind in the JCR.

“Unfortunately,” she adds, “I’m kind of afraid this may be the sort of experience you can never have twice.”

Mulligan sets own head on fire: observers unsurprised

LOWER LIBRARY—Davies resident Junior Fellow Casey Mulligan set his own head on fire with his mind this Saturday at lunch.

Witnesses claim that Mulligan, who has been known to demonstrate pyrokinetic aptitude several times over the past year and a half, became slightly upset due to the staleness of the slice of bread on his plate. As he knocked the bread against the table to demonstrate its hardness, his hair burst into flame.

“It isn’t actually that strange a thing to happen around Casey,” says resident Junior Fellow Fred Caldarella. “He sets stuff on fire pretty frequently, generally psychically. Plus I once saw him eat a kitten with his foot.”

Non-resident Frankie Drake concurs. “Casey is continually destroying my things with his mind-flames,” she says. “As soon as I get my law degree, I’m going to sue the hell out of him.”

Though many Daves believe that Artist’s rendering of Casey Mulligan with his head on fire.

Mulligan’s apparent powers prove resident Barbara Mickel’s frequent allegations that he is actually Satan, others disagree. “Casey is not Satan,” says resident Marie Dumont. “He doesn’t set things on fire with his mind. He doesn’t own a dog named Cthulhu. I don’t have a crush on him. Go away.”

Mulligan himself denies that he set his head on fire or, in fact, that he has ever set anything on fire at all, even with matches.

The investigation into the incident continues.

Random Facts About Kenneth Malcolm

Some things you may not know about the new Davies porter:

1. If Kenneth Malcolm, Jack Bauer, John McClane, and Chuck Norris were locked together in a room, the room itself would spontaneously combust due to the sheer level of awesome in the vicinity.
2. Kenneth Malcolm officially changed his middle name to “Badass.” He was six years old at the time.
3. Kenneth Malcolm eats bullets for breakfast.
4. Kenneth Malcolm has conquered Greece, Spain, Norway, and Prussia...with his bare hands.
5. When Kenneth Malcolm clears his throat, numberless armies flee in terror.
6. The eventual inevitable destruction of the world will leave only one human survivor: Kenneth Malcolm.

